Dyer Interviews Menz Over Air; A's at Bridgeton

Bill Dyer, the famous "Wheaties" announcer, whose voice at the Philadelphia major league parks, is known to thousands of sports fans, will be at the Menz Park contest on July 8.

Dyer, who is on the staff of WCAU, in Philadelphia, has accepted an invitation to appear at the A's-Bridgeton game next week and, over a loud speaker, will give the fans some inside facts on the players and other information. He will also toss out the first ball.

Dyer, in his booth at Shibe Park Monday, interviewed Steve Menz, over the air, and asked him several questions concerning the forthcoming attraction. Mr. Menz was heard by hundreds of local listeners as he told of the big game due here July 8. He told the radio audience he believed Bridgeton had collected a team good enough to give the Mackmen plenty of trouble.

The baseball announcer is scheduled to handle a broadcast from the Philadelphia studios on the night the A's are due here, but he is making arrangements to have a substitute take care of his program.

The Athletics-Bridgeton game got plenty of publicity over the air Monday, when the WCAU announcer gave several statements concerning the attraction. The interview with Steve Menz was one of the best bits of publicity that Bridgeton has received in a long time.

Fans like Dyer's announcing hereabouts and he is tops in popularity. He was one of the announcers for last year's world series and may handle the 'Dream Game' this year.

Dyer will be in the Menz ball park press box during the entire game with the Athletics and will deliver announcements from time to time.

Menz Brothers are trying to give their July 8 attraction a real big league flavor. They have signed the All-Phillies to be with them, they have secured the Athletics, and the most outstanding baseball announcer on the air, all of which indicates one of the finest and most unusual sports programs ever offered to fans in this section.

JACK CARNEY

Jack Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Carney, left Saturday for Washington, where he is attending the Boy Scout Jamboree The scouts have a 350 acre camp, and there are about 25,000 scouts in attendance, from every state in the United States, and about 400 from foreign lands. This is a great experience for any boy, and Jack is the kind of boy to make the best of the opportunity.

Court Upholds $15,000 Verdict

Judge Leroy W. Loder Tuesday up-held a verdict of $10,000 damages for a Vineland boy, aged eight, and additional $5000 for his mother in an automobile accident trial. The complainants in the case were Mrs. Mabel Robinson 28 of north Delsea Drive, and her son, Nelson. Freeholder Sheppard Campbell, of Downe Township, was the defendant.

Counsel for Campbell immediately announced an appeal will be taken.

The plaintiffs sought $75,000 damages for injuries the boy sustained when struck by Campbell's car near his home on March 18, 1936. It was one of the largest awards returned in Cumberland County courts in recent years.

A quartette from the Second Pres. church of Bridgeton pleased the audience with their singing. Rev. E. It was New England style with shingled sides. This present building of stone was completed in 1780 and was in constant use until 1850 when a church was organized in Fairton. This Old Stone church is still in good condition and very attractive on the interior with its high pulpit, old stove, brick isles and gallaries around three sides of the building.

Legislature Adjourns; No Action On Relief

The New Jersey Legislature adjourned Monday night until November 15, after hearing a report from Arthur W. Mudd, State Financial Assistance Commission director, that the State was faced with a shortage of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 this year for relief purposes.

Both Houses refused to allow any new or unfinished legislation to be brought before the session.

Mayor Soren A. Tollefson, Oaklyn, was confirmed by the Senate as a member of the South Jersey Transit Authority, succeeding former Judge John B. Kates, who resigned.

George C. Warren Jr., president of the State Fish and Game Association, was confirmed a member of the Interstate Sanitation Commission.

James V. Morran, Camden, was selected by the Assembly as a member of the Delaware River Joint Commission, but final approval by the Senate was held in abeyance and the nomination was referred to the Judiciary Committee. Moran is president of the New Jersey Sales Tax Repeal Association.

An investigation of "light sentences" imposed on Cape May county election fraud defendants, and legislative recommendation for 'judicial correction" was approved by the Assembly.

The inquiry is directed against Judge Palmer M. Way, of the Cape May County Common Pleas Court. It was sponsored by Assemblyman Barthol mew A. Sheehan, Democrat, Camden county. He also is a member of the Democratic committee of five investigating the municipal affairs of Haddonwood. While Democrats supported the proposal, the Republican minority attacked it and voted unsuccessfully against approval.

Despite a plea to enact legislation to prevent 700 women in Atlantic City from losing their positions, the Assembly refused to consider any amendment to a bill regulating the hours for woman in industry.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

THE long fourth of July week-end needs a well stocked larder and plenty of foods that can be eaten cold. For picnics plenty of bread, canned meats and fish, peanut butter, preserves, salad dressing, butter, eggs, cheese, lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, fruits and beverages are essential.

Cold ham, chicken, turkey, duck, tongue, jellied meats or meat loaf or fish may be on hand as left overs.

Favorite fruits for this holiday are bananas and oranges, watermelons, peaches, cherries, and plums. Berries do not carry well on picnics though they are plentiful and reasonably priced for home meals. The first few new crop apples and pears are in market.

Seasonable foods make up these holiday menus.

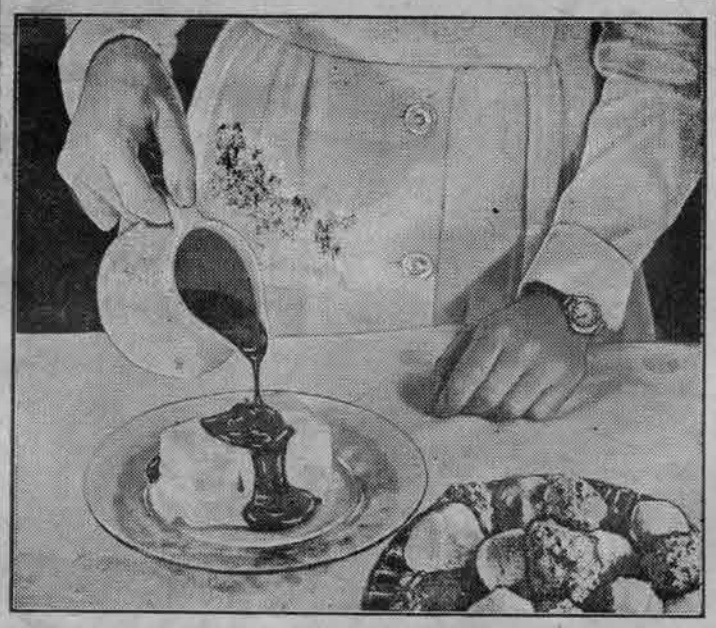
KEEP COOL!

With These Summer Dessert Secrets



WHEN it's ninety in the shade right after breakfast, the very thought of planning dessert for dinner makes you shudder. But you can laugh at soaring temperatures if you plan the week's desserts ahead of time. Make up a chocolate sundae sauce on baking day and store it in your refrigerator until wanted, either for ice cream, cottage pudding, or for a simple milk pudding. And with a reserve supply of cookies to round out a fresh fruit dessert, you've no longer any emergency to meet.

Chocolate Sundae Sauce

2½ squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup water
¾ cup sugar
Dash of salt

Add chocolate to water, bring to a boil, and cook 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt, and boil 4 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Serve hot or cold on ice cream, puddings, or cake. Make 1 cup sauce.

Chocolate Macaroons

2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ cups shredded coconut

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add salt and vanilla. Fold in chocolate; then coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool 5 minutes before removing from paper. Makes 2 dozen 1½ inch macaroons.

Coconut Macaroons

5 tablespoons granulated sugar
5 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 tablespoon flour
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon vanilla or almond extract
1 cup shredded coconut

Sift together sugars and flour. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout, then add sugar mixture, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating throughly after each addition. Fold in flavoring and coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until delicately browned. Makes 18 macaroons.

Outlook Justifies State Participation In New York Fair

Whalen Voices Opinion in Inviting Governor and People to the 1939 Exposition

NEW YORK, (Special).—In a letter of invitation to the governors of 47 states, Grover Whalen, President of the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation, points out that the commercial consequences of the international exposition under construction in New York City are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state in the nation.

"Fifty million persons from every walk in life, from every state in the United States, from every country in the world, are expected to attend the Fair," writes Mr. Whalen. "The great American market with its tremendous consumer purchasing power will be represented by these visitors They will comprise a true cross-section of America."

The World's Fair, according to Mr. Whalen, will be a magnificent spectacle, entertaining and instructive. It will attempt to answer the questions: "What kind of a world have we built? What kind of a world are we building? What kind of a world can we build?" With collateral improvements, it will represent a total investment of more than $125,000,000 by the Fair Corporation and the governmental, industrial and other participants. The Fair site park is a tract of 1216½ acres, almost at the geographical and population centre of New York City.

Construction of buildings and roads, grading, dredging, planting and landscaping are already under way, based upon a schedule which calls for completion of all construction operations before January 1, 1939, to allow four months for final decorations and installation of exhibits preparatory to the opening of the Fair on April 30.

The opening date commemorates the inauguration, on April 30, 1789, of George Washington as the first President of the United States.

In the government area, and near an imposing federal hall to be erected by the United States Government, the Fair will provide a "Hall of States" in which the significant contributions of each state in laying the foundations for the better World of Tomorrow can be proudly displayed, says Mr. Whalen.

His letter supplements an invitation to participate in the Fair extended to the governors on November 30 by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of the host state of New York. Governor Lehman pointed out that the State of New York has already appropriated, to date, $2,130,000 for commencement of construction of boulevards, service roads, bridges, and certain other basic improvements the State will make at the exposition site or its approaches. The New York legislature, further, during 1936 passed an act creating the New York World's Fair Commission of 18 members and providing funds in aid of this body's preparation of plans for a state building and exhibit and for active state participation in the Fair.

Delegates Expect Assessment Debate

Millville and Vineland delegates have gone to Marion Ind., where they will attend the annual American Flint Glass Worker's Union which opened there June 28.

William McCarthy, caster place department; William Jones, press department and Frank Anderson, lamproom, are the Millville delegates and Harry Surran, Nuncio Gruzzio and Charles Brown, of Vineland, represent the lamproom department.

They will discuss wage proposals and working conditions and will name delegates to meet with the glass manufacturers at a conference to be held in Atlantic City, in July.

It is expected that there will be discussion and protest made regarding the one cent assessment made by the American Federation of Labor to raise money to fight the John Lewis rival labor organization, predicted one of the delegates before departure.

House Leader Thomas Glynn Walker, of Hudson county, refused to permit the bill to be read, when objections were made by Assemblyman Fred W. DeVoe, of Middlesex county, Democratic majority leader. Under House rules unanimous consent is required for introduction of a bill.

The bill proposed would amend the existing law by allowing women to work in restaurants and cafes in municipalities in the four counties bordering on the Atlantic Ocean. This would include Ocean Monmouth, Burlington, Atlantic and Cape May.

Miss Bitting has spent the past few months with Mrs. Reeves in Port Norris, and was taken sick while here. She was a patient at Bridgeton Hospital for several days, with very little improvement in her condition, which, from the first, was very serious. Realizing that her days were numbered, she expressed a desire to be near the ocean, and, with the Reeves family, took a cottage at Surf City, near Beach Haven, where they remained for three or four weeks. She was removed to the Shenandoah Hospital on Monday last week, and the end came on Sunday, as stated. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, from the residence of her uncle, with whom she had made her home for several years. The aunt, who has been in poor health for sometime, died last week, and the family is thus doubly bereaved.

Miss Bitting was in her early thirties a young woman of very attractive personality. During her stay in Port Norris, she made many friends, and the community extends sympathy to the entire family.

THE ROMANCE OF GLASS

Glass Money

IT is a curious paradox that today we consider glass containers as money savers, while a few hundred years ago we would have been able to spend those glistening bottles and jars on our pantry shelves!

In the days of the Byzantine Empire, glass medallions were struck for the purpose of weighing silver and gold. The public rapidly established these medallions as true money . . ōn a par with the gold and silver they were intended to weigh! Although medallions were abolished in 888 A.D., Venice continued to make and circulate this "glass money" until 1279.

Glass bottles and jars were worth their weight in gold in ancient Egypt Babylon and Persia. Within the memory of living men, glass beads and bottles have been used as an exchange medium with Indians and aboriginal Negroid tribes. The question of value, thus seen, is an interesting one.

Were we, today, suddenly to be deprived of our sterile glass containers, we too might declare priceless these common bottles and jars which preserve our foods, and make modern civilization safer, happier, and more livable.

What If Daddy Doesn't Know

Much has been said and written about the amazing similarity of Billy and Bobby Mauch, 12-year-old twins now appearing in the First National production 'The Prince and the Pauper,' which comes to the Levoy Theatre next Friday and Saturday. But a lot of people think its a trick done with makeup.

However, their father, Felix Mauch, was recently asked if he could tell the boys apart. "Of course," he said, "that is—sometimes. If they're bent on deceiving me for some reason or other, however, I'll admit that they can fool me."

Ann Harding Stars At Landis In 'Love From A Stranger'

Ann Harding comes to the Landis Theatre Vineland, for two days beginning Sunday in "Love From A Stranger," the first film the popular star has made away from Hollywood.

Ann travelled all the way to England to make this Max Schach production which tells in thrilling terms the story of a girl who was captivated by a handsome, wordly stranger and of the bitter desillusionment she encountered.

The story, which Frances Marion adapted from the late Frank Vosper's sensational stage success of the same name, based on a short story by Agatha Christie, casts Miss Harding as a pretty London stenographer who wins the sweepstakes, meets a handsome stranger in the person of Basil Rathbone and marries him after a glorious whirlwind courtship in Paris.

The terrible discovery she makes about him leads to what has been described as the most breath-taking climax ever shown on any screen.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Binnie Hale, Bruce Seton, Jean Cadell and Donald Calthrop.

Rowland V. Lee, one of Hollywood's leading directors, handled the megaphone on this Trafalar Film. Philip Tannura is responsible for the photography, the sets are by Frederick Pusey and the costumes by S. Lange.

'Westerns, Good Training,' Says Bob Steele

If you are an aspiring actress and want to become a motion picture star, you might follow the advice of Bob Steele, who says:

"Go western, young gals, go western!"

The dashing cowboy star of "The Gun Ranger," a fast action Republic film which comes to the Globe Theatre Sunday, believes that western pictures are the best possible training for motion picture careers.

"Hit Parade" and Vaudeville at Criterion

Occasionally a story comes cut of Hollywood so heart-warming and human that one almost beleives in Santa Claus again.

Take , for example, the tale they tell of Frances Langford, star of Republic's "The Hit Parade," playing at the Criterion Theatre Friday and Saturday. A young reporter, back in her home state of Florida, was told by his editor to get a Langford story "or else."

The reporter had two dollars in his pocket.

He candidly told Miss Langford his difficultites, and she rose to the occasion in typical gay fashion. The young man had two dollars to spend! Well, they'd spend it, and have a good time, too.

The first penny was spent weighing Frances. Ninety-nine pounds, to the hair!

They ate dinner together in a dime cafeteria, and had a grand, hilarious time counting nickels and keeping within their "budget."

A moving picture was next on the program, and while he was paying for the tickets a nickel dropped out of the young man's hand and went rolling merrily down the sidewalk. Frances ran squealing after it, but it disapeared down the gutter before she could retrieve it.

After the show they had a chocolate soda apiece, and with only four cents left, he walked her back to her hotel.

In that one kindly deed, Miss Lanford not only saved the day for an ambitious young reporter, but endeared herself in the hearts of her large following of fans.

New Film Is Based on Famous Novel by Mark Twain

Modern writers who bring down the wrath of governments on their heads by a too pointed reference to actual history might learn a lesson from the example of Mark Twain, famous American humorist and man of letters.

In his foreword to "The Prince and the Pauper," which incidentally will be repeated at the start of the First National picture of that name to be shown at the Grand Theatre, Vineland, Friday and Saturday Twain cleverly sidestepped possible criticism in this manner:

"This is not a history, but a tale of once upon a time, so it may have happened, it may not have happened, but it could have happened."

Which anyone will agree, is completely disarming, and a person who would take issue with his text after that must indeed be captious.

His story, as the tens of thousands who have read it know, deals with an incident at the close of the reign of Henrp VIII of Engthe regin of Henry VIII of England and the accession of his heir, Prince Edward Tudor, to the throne.

Twain introduced considerable satire into this amusing story, but it also is absorbing as an adventure yarn.

First National is fortunate in having the 12-year-old Mauch twins, Billy and Bobby, in the title roles. Billy, who already has won acclaim by his outstanding performance as the young Anthony in "Anthony Adverse," portrays the pauper, while his brother has the role of the Prince. It is Bobby's first screen appearance, although he has starred with his brother on the stage and the radio.

Errol Flynn, who has soared to stardom in less than a year by his work in "Captain Blood" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade," has the part of Miles Hendon.

Visit From Late President Wilson Embarrasses Star

Receiving the late President Wilson backstage during a play engagement in Washington was the most embarrassing experience in the life of Ernie Adams, veteran stage and screen star who is seen in a difficult and dramatic role with Johnny Mack Brown in "Bar Z Bad Men," rip-roaring western story of cattle rustlers which now is holding audiences breathless at the Globe Theatre Saturday.
